

G'day,

I've read some articles recently about clearing 'stuff' out of one's garage, wardrobe, study, whatever.

I'm hopeless at it (still trying to get rid of a jacket I wore 38 years ago. "Some day ... some day ...").

HOWEVER ... today was the day. It takes well over a finicky hour to go through the B/S numbers for all 450 stocks. After doing today's figures I ditched all those with less than 20 buyers. If they meet the parameters in future, they'll go right back in. Today's little dark watch-list is my last one, therefore ... and it's a high number.

Prime Table: For Monday 15 SEP @ 12 SEP close - 100+ Buyers & 2/1 or better B/S ratio.

(Selected only from standard scans.): BAU (13.5 cents), BGL (98.5) and UNS (51.0). Perfect shape - UNS.

Apropos my comments from last week about SBM (i.e. "Perfect shape - SBM (very much a 'perfect shape' - the kind I constantly look for)", SBM is up 1.5 per cent this week with a solid B/S ratio.

Results - Analysis of Issue No 28's Selections (imaginary trades for research only)

Fourteen '$10,000.00 trades'; 8 profits (1 share still in play so for publication purposes I declare a profit at present value), 6 losses (rigid stop-loss discipline) for a $9,097.00 profit. Running total is now: $86,638.00.

Feel free to pass this report on.
